- 38 Brzezinski, 198–99, 215. Author Jacob Heilbrunn reported that Brzezinski and the neoconservatives “hated” and “despised” each other since the former supported a two-state solution for Palestine (Heilbrunn, 150). And they probably did not like it when he said Obama should shoot down Israeli jets if they tried to attack Iran (Eric Fingerhut, “Brzezinski: It could be a ‘Liberty in reverse,’” Jewish Telegraphic Agency, September 21, 2009, <https://jta.org/2009/09/21/culture/brzezinski-it-could-be-a-liberty-in-reverse>). 120 The author is occasionally confused with The Other Scott Horton, as I affectionately call him. Other Scott (no relation) is an international human rights lawyer, journalist for Harper's magazine, professor at Columbia University, co-founder of the American University of Central Asia in Bishkek and author of Lords of Secrecy: The National Security Elite and America's Stealth Warfare (New York: Nation Books, 2015). He taught Saakashvili law and Hayekian economics at Columbia, inspiring his initial anti-corruption push, and has been associated with Mr. Soros in various capacities over the years. There is zero reason to believe that has been in anything but the most honorable circumstances. He is a great guy. I have interviewed him many times. But just to be clear: we are different people, and the author has no such associations. And for his sake, I am sure he would disagree with many conclusions in this book. Myron A.
